Apogee and CaptureExec

Apogee Engineering has been using CaptureExec for only four months but the improvement in our Capture Process has been outstanding.

We did our due diligence when selecting our CRM and CaptureExec has worked out even better than hoped. Install and training was efficient and professional. We imported over 500 Capture events and improved the content of our data with a few simple changes. CaptureExec feels like it was tailored for our company and it was well accepted by all staff because of how intuitive it is. What used to take hours to maintain and update our pipeline and decision briefs using excel spreadsheets and PowerPoint slides now takes minutes and the value of the information is significantly improved. Investing in a CRM is not a trivial matter for any company; especially a small business. Highly recommend CaptureExec be strongly considered when making that investment; it will pay off.
I would be happy to share my personal experience with the selection, install and experience with using CaptureExec.
